Mr. Gladstone Lectures.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Mr. Gladstone lectured at the Sheldonian Theatre, Oxford, to-day, on "Mediæval Oxford." Many prominent persons were present, and there was such a rush of students to hear him that several were injured. In tracing the history of Mediæval Universities, Mr. Gladstone showed they owed their origin neither to papal or legal authority. He contrasted the golden age of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries with the darker period of inactivity until the time of Elizabeth. Mr. Gladstone objected to a complete severance of theology from other University work, saying that the relations between the Creator and man were the crown of human knowledge.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Robert Franz, the well known composer, is dead. He was born in Halle, June 28, 1815. Gradually he won fame as a composer, particularly in religious chants. He also composed many popular airs.

Trade Between U. S. and England.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Ex-Commoner, Sydney George, of the Economist, writes the Times and says that while in America in 1891, he called on President Harrison in Washington, and had a conversation with him on the tariff question. Mr. Harrison eagerly inquired as to what the feeling was in England toward America's protection policy. Mr. George said that while such a policy was naturally displeasing the feeling was that it would not be possible to prevent England's manufactured goods from entering the United States. While the latter had one hundred million pounds worth of corn to sell, England would not pay in gold, where it was possible to exchange goods. Mr. Harrison said it would be America's policy to drive England to bimetallism. He considered it the chief commercial object of every country to hoard gold. Mr. George expressed the opinion that if the United States abandoned the tariff that they would be at England in neutral markets. Mr. Harrison scoffed at neutral markets as being unimportant.

RUSSIA'S BACKDOWN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The dispatch from Victoria, which states that the sealing men there are rejoicing over what they call Russia's back-down in the matter of jurisdiction over the waters surrounding the Copper Islands, the cause being a letter which Captain McLeod of the Ariel, one of the seized schooners, received from Captain L. M. Firman of the Francisco schooner C. H. White, and which further says that Captain De Levron of the cruiser Zabiaka had been declared insane and relieved of his commission, friends having arranged to send him to an asylum in California, was shown to Henry Prein, Firman's partner in the ownership of the seized schooner C. H. White.

Prein said he placed very little reliance in anything the Governor of Behring Island had told Firman. Firman met the Governor, who left here October 13, and in an interview with him was informed that Delevron was insane and that the Russian Government would not uphold him. Prein looked upon the statement, when informed of it by Firman, as simply a ruse of the Governor to satisfy the owners of the seized schooners until he could get back to his northern home.

Regarding the sending of Delevron to a California insane asylum, Prein says it is ridiculous: "Delevron, who is an old Californian, is not insane," said Prein, "and you can rest assured that he is not to be sent to any asylum. To show how little reliance I placed in the Governor's statement, I will say that after I heard of it I sent papers on to Washington City, asking to have the question of the rights of the Russians to seize my schooner diplomatically dealt with."

MRS. HARRISON DEAD.

The President's Wife This Morning Succumbs to Her Distressing Malady.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25, 1:40 a.m. — Mrs. Harrison is dead. The President passed the whole of yesterday (Monday) at the bedside of his wife. He did not enter the office portion of the building. In the morning, during two hours when it seemed that death was imminent, he stood over the bedside holding the hand of his stricken partner, and breath by breath they fought back the invader together and won a few more hours of earthly companionship. The result of the long strain upon the President is a matter of serious concern to his friends, but it is believed that he will be able to endure it with the same confidence and trust that has made him such a consoler to others in the hours of their deepest distress. A few minutes before 8 o'clock, Dr. Gardner made his fifth visit of the day to the White House, and as that had been the probable hour fixed by him when a change would occur, his appearance was anxiously awaited by the newspaper men gathered about the door. In the meanwhile it was learned that for the third time in the course of the day, Mrs. Harrison had overcome what it seemed must be fatal nervous attacks. Most of the family were at the supper table, and were summoned thence to the sick room. The patient, however, again rallied and entered upon the sleep that follows these incidents of the progress of the case. Marvellous is the only word that fitly characterizes the vitality which Mrs. Harrison displayed.

At midnight Mrs. Harrison was slowly sinking. The change in the previous hour and a half had been greater than at any time. Her respiration had fallen and the awakenings from lethargic sleep were at greater intervals and for brief periods. The President had then been with her an unbroken stretch of seven and a half hours. All the day members of the family were surrounding the bedside, the patient was in a semi-conscious and motionless position and there were indications that an immediate dissolution was at hand. About 1 o'clock the doctor made a hasty examination and found that the respiration was gradually decreasing, and there were other signs that the patient was in the throes of death. He made an almost inaudible communication to the bereaved ones, using the words: "I do not think she will last half an hour."

THE UGANDA AFFAIR.

Spirited Letter by the Bishop of Equatorial Africa.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—A letter from Dr. Tucker, Bishop of Equatorial Africa, in which the policy of the British Government in the Uganda matter is severely criticised, is about to be made public. It transpired that on September 21, Mr. G. A. Portel, British Agent at Zanzibar, learning that Bishop Tucker and a party of missionaries were about to start from Mombasa for Uganda, cabled the Bishop that the party must proceed on their own responsibility if at all, and at their own risk, as the Government declined to father the expedition. To this the Bishop made a spirited reply, in which he stated that he cheerfully absolved the Government from all responsibility so far as he was himself concerned, but it did owe a heavy responsibility, he added, to the missionaries who were working under his Episcopal license. He felt it his duty to declare that if Uganda was abandoned a very grave responsibility would be incurred by the Government. It was true that missionaries in savage countries had no right to expect the aid and protection of the Home Government, but if the missionaries were not entitled to compromise the Government, the Government in its turn has no right to compromise the missionaries. The Government had conferred a charter upon the East Africa Co. By virtue of it the Company has sent Capt. Lugard to make certain treaties in Uganda. The British missionaries had naturally supported Captain Lugard as a British officer, and in so doing they had incurred the hatred of all the other parties to the controversy. The treaties had guaranteed to protect the King, and to maintain the company's position in Uganda. Under these circumstances, the Government would be answerable for the lives of the missionaries, if such lives were lost by reason of the breaking of its solemn pledges. This letter, which will be published to-morrow, is likely to cause a sensation. Its effect would doubtless be to strengthen the sentiment in favor of the retention of Uganda. It emphasizes the contention that the position of the missionaries was secure among the natives until the Government and the protected East Africa Co. meddled in the administration of the affairs of the region, and, by so doing, incurred a certain responsibility for the unfortunate position in which the missionaries now find themselves.

NEW BRUNSWICK ELECTIONS.

The Government Sustained but the Premier and Solicitor-General were Defeated.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 24.—The returns of the Provincial elections show the standing of parties to be respectively: Opposition 14; Government 25. In the latter are included three Independents whom the Opposition claim, and also one seat in Carleton which is in dispute. There was a great surprise in York, where Premier Blair and his whole ticket fell, Mr. Blair being 259 behind the lowest man on the Opposition side, who was Pitts. In King's there was also a surprise, the whole Government ticket being elected. In Northumberland the Government ticket was elected, Morrisey, Opposition, being 100 behind the lowest Government man. St. John city went Opposition, Stockton and Alward beating Smith and Shaw by 800 majority. St. John county returned Dunn, Government, and McKeown, Opposition. The latest returns from Westmoreland show the defeat of Solicitor General Richards by ten votes; Woodbury Mills, Government, being the fourth man; Powell, Opposition, third. The other two are Smith and Killam. In Restigouche, Mott, Government, is reported elected instead of Murray, Opposition.

DOMINION FINANCING.

Speculation as to Why so Many Bank of Montreal People are in London.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Great interest has been created in city financial circles by the presence here of so many directors and high officials of the Bank of Montreal. It is generally known that the agreement between the Dominion Government and the Barings and Glinn Mills for the management of the London finances expires this fall, and that the Bank of Montreal thinks it should be given to them. The vast sums handled makes the account very valuable. It is estimated that the commissions, discounts, premiums, exchange, etc., are worth to the Government agents fully $100,000 per annum. The following is the Dominion debt, etc., handled in London: Debt, $918,670,000; annual interest charges, $7,250,000; sinking fund purchases, $1,900,000; redemption debt, $2,500,000. In addition there is a large profit in bringing out new loans. The business of the different provinces and municipalities would likely follow the Dominion Government in its change of agents.

THE RAILWAY BREAK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—An officer of the Panama Railway, in speaking of the rupture between the company and the Pacific Mail Co., said: We are in the market to charter ships with which to do business on both oceans. A contract has been agreed to by the Pacific Mail Co. for a continuance of the rights enjoyed by that company over the Panama road; but the breaking up of the Transcontinental Association forced it to break its arrangements with the Pacific Mail. The Panama Railway insists on a guaranteed rental. Last year this rental amounted to $660,000, but the company did work of far more value in return. It has practically drifted into a fight with the Southern Pacific Company, and the fight is really with Mr. Huntington. Vice-President Huston of the Pacific Mail Co., said: "The Panama Railroad Co. requires us to enter into a contract guaranteeing to it more money for the business between San Francisco and New York than we have received ourselves, which, of course, is impossible. The threat to put on steamers in opposition to us is simply absurd, because it would have to guarantee such steamers sufficient earnings to support them, which cannot be done. The trade with the Panama Railroad Company is, therefore, off. The contract, however, does not expire until February 1 next, and we feel perfectly confident of being able to take care of the Pacific Mail interests after that time." In regard to the Honduras Railroad being used by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for transferring traffic, the Panama officials say it would take millions of money and five years' time to construct it.

WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 24.—A crazy Chinaman was committed to the asylum today.

In the County Criminal Court, this morning, before Judge Bole, Cope, a Vancouver man, charged with attempting to murder his wife, elected to be tried at the assizes.

An unsuccessful attempt was made early yesterday morning to burglarize the wholesale warehouse of Bell-Irving, Paterson & Company.

The only female convict in the British Columbia penitentiary, Mrs. Brown, from Nanaimo, sentenced to five years penal servitude for murder, was removed from the institution yesterday, and left for Kingston, Ontario, in charge of Deputy Warden Fitzsimmons and Guard Stewart. There is no department for females in the penitentiary, and Inspector Moylan decided to have her removed. Two lunatics in the penitentiary, who it was believed would also be taken East, will remain, the Chinaman going into the Chinese ward of the Provincial insane asylum.

The argument on the application of Mr. Davis, on behalf of Mr. H. O. Bell-Irving against the Vancouver by-law, granting $300,000 to the Burrard Inlet and Fraser River Valley Railway, came up before Justice McCreight to-day, Mr. Davis made application to put in two affidavits to show that the voting on the by-law would have resulted in defeat had not a number of names been purposely left off the voters' list. The counsel for Vancouver objected to the affidavits being sprung on them. The argument took up the morning's session, and His Lordship reserved decision on Mr. Davis' motion to put in a new affidavit. The case was adjourned until Thursday.

KOOTENAY LAKE.

PILOT BAY, Oct. 21.—Dr. and Mrs. Hendryx left on the 19th for Victoria, via Spokane.

R. McCormick and A. McCoy have just come in from a 17 days' trip to their claims, on the St. Mary's. Five claims have been located on a vein of quartz, yielding high assays of silver and gold. Al. Gray is about to return to his, to carry out some work before the season closes.

Mr. Watters is also in from the same locality. He is greatly pleased with the result of his journey, and brings back some valuable samples of ore. He reports two feet of snow on the summit of the divide, and, running short of provisions, had to make a trip of 16 miles on foot and 14 miles by boat in the one day. He will return to Victoria next week to report results.

J. C. Davenport, owner of the Dardanelles mine, intends to work his claim all winter, and has laid in a heavy stock of provisions, &c., at the Galena Trading Co.'s store here.

J. F. Wardner passed through on the 19th, and appears to have given up his endorsement of the New Denver and Nakusp route as the proper exit from the Slocan mines. He has bought 78 lots in Kaslo, 10 of which are business lots, and is about to bring into this country his entire outfit of pack animals, and all appliances for working the Freddie Lee to its full capacity. He and some others have put up funds to make a good pack trail into the mines, to join the new wagon road.

In the interest of Canadian manufacturers, it cannot be too quickly understood that the miner's tools—picks, shovels, hammers, etc.,—made in Eastern Canada, are too clumsy and too heavy for use here; the men will not buy them. Supplies of these articles have therefore to be laid in from the United States and it pays to ship them even from Pittsburg, Pa., direct. It is understood that American samples have been sent back east for information and guidance in the manufacture, but, up to the present time, without result. Surely the necessities of such an immense area as British Columbia affords for mining operations is worth the attention of manufacturers in providing the class of goods most in request. It is in such matters that the greater enterprise and determination to do business, characteristic of the American, are making themselves felt, to the exclusion of home made articles, which not even a high protective tariff succeeds in protecting.

The steamer Spokane has ceased running to Nelson, as there is not sufficient business between that place and Bonner's ferry to justify her continuance on that route. She communicates with the lake ports only.

KOOTENAY.

(From the Kootenay Star.)

Mr. C. H. Mackintosh, M.P., who is interested in several mining properties, has ordered a concentrator, which will be put in operation early in the spring. Mr. Owen, who is in West Kootenay for the purpose of collecting mineral specimens for exhibition in the windows of the C. P. R. office, London, England, is visiting the whole of Mr. Mackintosh's claims for the purpose of getting 1,000 lbs. of ore to forward to the capitalists at Ottawa whom Mr. Mackintosh represents. This will no doubt convince them that the Illecillewaet mines are quite as good as they are reported to be, and that there are no such things as "wildcats" there.

J. C. Wagner has discovered in the Lardeau a galena ledge from eight to ten feet wide and well mineralized. In several places from three to four feet of solid galena was found. The ledge is a true fizzure, cutting the formation near the head waters of Haley Creek, on the divide between that creek and Duncan River. Mr. Wagner and partner, J. A. Kennedy, made five locations. Mr. Wagner considers the Lardeau the greatest mining country on this continent. He has examined the ten locations made by J. W. Haskins, and considers them the greatest find that has yet been seen in any mining camp in America—and he has been in most of them.

L. Mason and G. Laforme, from Big Bend, bring gratifying news concerning the placer mines there. Mr. Mason says four men at the Consolation mine took out $250 worth in two shifts. At another claim every shovelful of dirt panned out $45.

Large numbers of emigrants from the United States are passing through Revelstoke bound for the Canadian Northwest. They come in by way of Bonner's Ferry and Little Dalles and up the Columbia River. They are mostly large families.

Frank Saunders, who broke into Hull Bros' butcher shop and stole $138, three weeks ago, was tried at the Revelstoke Court-house, on Saturday, by Judge Walkem. He was sentenced to two years in the Provincial penitentiary.

Development work has been completed on all the claims at Fish Creek. The Elizabeth and Edinburgh, adjoining claims, owned by Mr. S. Ryckman, M. P., and Walter Scott, have turned out wonderfully rich. On the former a shaft has been sunk 70 feet in good ore, on an eight-inch solid vein. At the surface the mineral of this ledge assayed from 175 oz. to 204 oz. per ton; at the bottom of the shaft it goes over 300 oz. silver to the ton, showing that the ore becomes richer as it descends.

KAMLOOPS.

(From the Inland Sentinel.)

Wm. Pearse, member of the Dominion Land Board and superintendent of Mines, has been at Kamloops and vicinity on matters concerning Dominion lands within the railway belt. The province has sold lands within the belt which are claimed by the Dominion Government, and settlers are in trouble as to their rights. The Dominion gives notice that no titles to land within the twenty-mile belt given by the Provincial Government will be respected. Mr. Pearse and Mr. Nash, of the Kamloops Dominion Land office, have spent three days this week at Enderby, where a large number of settlers are located on disputed lands.

The Hudson Bay Company has closed its store at Yale. Before and during the construction of the C.P.R., Yale was one of the liveliest places in the province, but when the road was completed the little town died out altogether. During Yale's boom days there were several thousand people there, and it was there that the men working on the C.P.R. went for their provisions. Before the line was started, the miners made Yale lively, it being the point from which goods were shipped into the Cariboo country.

Mr. Mara has received advices from P. O. Inspector Fletcher that the department has authorized increased mail service in the Okanagan country. There will be a tri-weekly mail from Vernon to Osooyos, and fortnightly from Osooyos to Kettle River, Boundary and Rock Creek. And there will be a fortnightly mail from Penticton to Keremeos.

A very interesting discussion has been going on among some of the business men over the advisability of having Kamloops incorporated. One large property owner, who has been very much opposed to incorporation, is said to have come out flat-footed in favor of it, stating that he would be the first to sign a petition asking incorporation.

The Coal Hill Kamloops Mineral and Mining Company, limited, has begun mining coal near Mr. Guerin's ranch, 2½ miles south of this town, under the superintendence of Major Vaughan. The drift of the mine is in about 110 feet, and the coal has vastly improved and the quantity increased. A load of it is being burned in the Grand Pacific hotel stoves.

Mr. Wentworth F. Wood has returned from the Mosquito Flat mines. One thousand pounds of ore were brought down in a canoe, a large part of which will be forwarded to Tacoma in order that a good average test of its value may be secured. A meeting of the mine owners will be held early in November to decide as to future operations.

DUNCAN'S.

DUNCAN'S, Oct. 24.—Lieut. Williamson, R.N., went down Saturday.

Dr. Watson, W. H. Lomas (Indian agent), J. C. Prevost, W. Aikman and G. Wooldridge, came up from Victoria on Saturday.

The provincial health officer, Dr. J. C. Davie, attended at the Agricultural Hall, Duncan's, Saturday, and vaccinated all comers. About 150 persons presented themselves, and kept the doctor very busy.

During the afternoon a team of horses took fright from some unknown cause, and galloped round the racing track twice before being stopped. No damage resulted, but the sole occupant of the wagon, Mrs. George Kier, received a fright and a severe shaking up.

An isolated case of smallpox exists in the settlement, on the road to Maple Bay, about four miles from Duncan's, and the inmates of a neighboring house are under guard as suspects. The sick man is James Shopland.

W. C. Duncan and A. A. McCormack left this morning on a visit to Eastern Canada, via the C.P.R.

Latest in the Oscar and Hattie Case—The E. B. Marvin to be Sold.

Tug Esperanza in Luck—The Fernbank Secures a Lumber Charter.

The case of the imprisoned sailors of the ship Bankburn came up yesterday in the Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Crease. After hearing the continuation of the argument on the application for a writ certiorari, the following judgment was rendered :—

"I have looked over all the papers and evidence, and I am of opinion the rule must be made absolute with costs. There was no continued wilful disobedience in the prisoners, according to the captain's own evidence, to satisfy the requirements of sub-section 5 of section 253 of the British Merchant Shipping Act, to warrant six weeks' imprisonment with hard labor and to forfeit $12 each from their pay as expenses properly incurred in hiring substitutes, of which there is no evidence whatever. The conviction is defective in not specifying the rate of wages and how the $12 is arrived at and for what days the alleged continued disobedience took place. The men have been proved to have been good men and well conducted all through the voyage. Their time appears to have expired, as they have been on the ship 15 months ; their request to be brought before a magistrate was not a request to be brought before him as criminals, but to bring their own complaint. It is remarkable that the first batch of six men were arrested at 7:30 a.m. on the 30th September (the ship having only cast anchor about 5:30 the previous evening), taken ashore and tried summarily at 8:45 a.m., and that the second batch of seven men were arrested at 3:30 p.m. of the same day, taken ashore at 4 p.m., and tried summarily at 5 p.m., apparently without professional advice. The rule is made absolute, with costs, and the 13 seamen imprisoned are to be discharged."

Mr. J. P. Walls appeared as counsel for the seamen, and Mr. H. D. Helmcken for the ship Bankburn.

THE OSCAR AND HATTIE CASE.

Being anxious to secure the transportation of their sealskins to London in time for the November sales, the owners of the seized schooner Oscar and Hattie recently applied to the Admiral for permission to remove and sell the valuable cargo, paying the proceeds into the hands of the counsel for the Government, Hon. Mr. Pooley. The required leave was given, the skins have been sold, and the money paid over. Messrs. Eberts & Taylor have been retained for the schooner's defence, and will enter an appearance when the case is called, this week or next, in the Vice-Admiralty court, the hearing being adjourned until Mr. Penney's return from the West Coast.

THE QUARREL RENEWED.

Steamer Haytian Republic reached Seattle Sunday, and the conflict between the 'longshoremen and Capt. Ross was renewed. Finally a compromise was made, Capt. Ross yielding for two more trips to give the union further time to coniders the matter and so he himself could consult Manager Dunbar of the line. The vessel was discharged without further trouble. She had 400 tons of freight and took out 200 tons of coal and 50 tons of general freight.

TO WORK AT THE PEDRO.

Tug Hope, Capt. Holmes, arrived in from Howe Sound, Sunday evening, with a scowload of shingle bolts. To-day the Hope will commence work around the San Pedro, she having been chartered to work in connection with steamers Sadie, Constance and Spratt's Ark. The work of taking the coal out of the Pedro's hold still continues, but in order to get at it, the pumps must be kept going, and consequently a great deal of steam power is required.

THE MARVIN TO BE SOLD.

Mr. George Byrnes has received instructions from the owners of the clipper schooner E. B. Marvin to dispose of her by public auction, on Monday, November 7. The sale of the schooner, one of the fastest and best known vessels in the Victoria fleet, is necessitated by the decision of those in the company to close up the partnership.

THE PREMIER INQUIRY.

The hearing of the Premier-Willamette collision case was begun before the board of inspectors at Seattle, Saturday morning, but an adjournmene was taken at noon until yesterday. This is probably the most important case that ever came before the board. The hearing is being conducted in secret.

THE "CARGO" IS HOME.

No fresh information in regard to the Iona has yet come to hand, and the majority of the Chinese who took their lives in their hands in attempting to reach Gray's harbor by her have returned to town. Two wagon loads came in by way of the Metchosin road on Sunday.

THE SADIE WINS A SPURT.

A lively little race took place Sunday evening between the steamers Constance and Sadie. Both vessels left the wharf at the foot of Johnson street at the same time and headed for the San Pedro, the Sadie arriving there first by a considerable distance.

THE WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

The C. P. N. Company will withdraw the steamer R. P. Rithet from the New Westminster-Victoria route to-day, and replace her with the Yosemite, the latter's run having been taken by the Islander, which left on her first trip this morning.

WATER FRONT NOTES.

The steamship Umatilla arrived from San Francisco Sunday night with 83½ tons of cargo and 26 passengers for Victoria, of whom the following four were in the cabin : G. Potts, J. J. Amonz, L. G. Eeklon and C. H. Clough.

Two scow loads of coal were brought down from Nanaimo by the Falcon Sunday evening. A short time previous to the Falcon's arrival the Phantom also came in with coal.

Steamer Quadra will leave on regular duty this morning, to replace and repair buoys in the neighborhood of Saanich. She will be gone about three or four days.

Tug Esperanza towed into Nanaimo harbor, Sunday evening, a dead whale which she picked up in the vicinity of Cape Flattery.

Steamer Badger brought in a boom of logs from Mill bay Sunday evening, and this morning will go to Comox for coal.

The British bark Fernbank has been chartered to load lumber for Valparaiso, at the Moodyville sawmill, at 36s. 6d.

Bark R. P. Rithet sails for Honolulu from Departure Bay to-day. She has a full coal cargo.

The Willamette, which ran down the Premier a week or so ago, goes to San Francisco for thorough repair.

The steamer Wilmington has been leased to run on the Snohomish route in place of the Cascade.

NORTHERN NEWS.

Word from the Steamer Elsie—The Latest Bit of Scandal at Juneau.

Repairs to the Ounalaska Custom House—A Big Pedestrian Feat.

(Special to the COLONIST.)

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Oct. 24.—The steamer City of Mexico arrived down from Alaska on Sunday night.

Gratifying news from the missing mail steamer Elsie, which was seven days overdue at Sitka at last reports, has been received. Hope had reached a very low ebb at Sitka, and the U.S. steamer Pinta was making preparations to go on a searching expedition for the missing steamer when the captain and officers of the Elsie suddenly put in an appearance, greatly to the relief of the public. The Pinta had already left the wharf and was steaming out of the bay when she met the Salmo, a little steamer upon which Captain W. Thompson and the crew of the Elsie came down from Eyak.

On September 24 the Elsie left Kayak Island for Yukatat. In the afternoon the forward shaft of the low pressure engine broke. There was a heavy sea running, and the captain was obliged to spread his canvas and set sail for Nuchek. This place was reached on the 26th.

Captain Thompson, his chief engineer and four of the crew set out in an open boat for Eyak cannery, 65 miles from Prince William's Sound. The trip was attended by fearful privations and thrilling experiences. Upon returning to Nuchek the steamer Salmo was chartered and the trip to Sitka begun. The Salmo is a small boat and the high seas handled her roughly, but after a slow voyage she finally managed to put in at Sitka, the Elsie, with her machinery almost a total wreck, having been left at Nuchek.

The Mexico also brought news of a recent scandal, that is greatly agitating the minds of the people of Juneau and Sitka, and involving Frank T. Myers, manager of the Juneau Mining Record. It is alleged that Myers, in conjunction with Charles Kuhn, a Juneau druggist, being angered because they had not been invited to a dinner at Judge Hoyt's, sent "with their compliments" two large watermelons, which had been saturated with croton oil. Fortunately the melons were received after the party had lunched, and were therefore laid aside. The next day one of them was sent by Mrs. Hoyt to her friend Mrs. Blacket, who partook of the melon and gave her child a piece. Both were taken violently ill, but recovered.

Myers and Kuhn were arrested, the jury refusing them bail, and indignation running high against them. They were brought in custody on the Mexico to Sitka. The Sitka papers are bitter in their denunciation of Myers. It is charged that he has used his Mining Record to malign and vilify public officials in Alaska, and has three times been brought before the Grand Jury on a charge of blackmail. Last spring he was arrested by Governor Knapp on 30 counts. Another time he was sued for criminal libel by U. S. Marshal Porter. It is alleged that 11 out of 16 on the Grand Jury were in favor of an indictment, but, by some hook or crook, the other five manipulated things to turn Myers free. It is also charged that Myers at one time, through the columns of the Mining Record, incited the natives to tar, feather and burn a missionary, and that he was convicted with the whiskey smuggling ring of Alaska.

Collector Hatch has been authorized by the U. S. Treasury to expend $1,000 on repairs of the custom house at Ounalaska.

The party from the schooner Albatross, which has been lost, attempted to foot it from Lituya to Yukatat, a feat never before accomplished. They calculated on making the trip in five days, and laid in a supply of provisions accordingly, but 18 days were consumed in the journey and great hardships were endured among the glaciers.

VACCINATION.

There are, we see, persons in this community who are doing their best to undermine the faith of their fellow citizens in the efficacy of vaccination. We are at a loss to imagine why they do this, for if vaccination is a preventive in any degree it is an immense benefit to mankind. We cannot see why they should wish to deprive any one of this benefit.

Belief in the efficacy of vaccination is not by any means a superstition. It is the result of observation, enquiry and experience. Millions have been vaccinated and the effects of the process have been made the subject of investigation by men desirous of finding out the exact truth. The investigations, too, have extended over a long series of years and they have been made in many countries. The conclusions arrived at have been carefully recorded.

There have always been doubters, as there are now. The gentlemen who deny the efficacy of vaccination here are not the only persons who have confidently asserted that vaccination does harm and not good. The sceptics have written books and made speeches to convince the world that they were right. Yet, in spite of the unbelievers and the denouncers, the believers in vaccination have gone on increasing. And those believers are not among the ignorant and uneducated. They are, indeed, of all classes, but there is a larger proportion of believers in vaccination among highly intelligent men and women than there is among those who know little and have not learned to estimate the value of evidence. Would this be the case if facts were against vaccination—if men who had not studied the subject at all deeply could prove that belief in its virtue is a delusion? Is not the fact that the educated classes are believers in vaccination, a presumption in favor of its having been proved to be efficacious?

It should be remembered that the great majority of those who have been specially educated in medicine and surgery, and whose business it is to treat diseases of all kinds, are the firmest believers in the efficacy of vaccination. For the one medical man who doubts its efficiency, we think we are safe in saying there are a hundred who have the firmest belief in it. We give below the result of the observations of a scientific man, Dr. Marshall, who had the opportunity of observing for twenty years the effects of vaccination on the patients of a smallpox hospital. The deaths from primary smallpox this authority found to be 37 per cent. The percentages of deaths among those who had been vaccinated are tabulated as follows:

	Number Admitted	Mortality per Cent.
1 Having one vaccine cicatrix	2,001	7.73
2 " two " "	1,446	1.70
3 " three " "	518	1.95
4 " four or more "	541	0.55
5 Stated to have been vaccinated but having no cicatrix.	370	23.57

UGANDA.

Shall the British continue to occupy Uganda? is a question which the British Government and the British nation have been for some time considering. There are some in England who say that we have no business there and that the sooner we clear out the better for all concerned. It was supposed, until very lately, that the Gladstone Government would pursue this "policy of scuttle" without hesitation. But Lord Rosebery has hesitated. He has shown that he is not prepared to leave the British missionaries and their converts in Uganda, as well as the other inhabitants of the country, without protection.

It should be remembered that the British Government is represented in that region by proxy. It did not itself send a force to occupy the country, but it, according to its usage, gave a company power to trade in the countries declared to be within the sphere of its influence, and to a certain extent, to exercise authority over their inhabitants. Captain Lugard therefore, of whom we have heard so much, was not in Uganda on service in his capacity as an officer of the British army, but he was there as the agent of the Imperial British East Africa Company.

That Company, according to a letter in the Times bearing the signature of A. J. Mounteney-Jephson, owes its origin to an appeal made by the Sultan of Zanzibar to Sir William MacKinnon to "save" him from the influence of the Germans. The appeal was made when Germany, Belgium, France, Portugal and Italy were trying to get as much as they severally could of the territory of Central Africa. In the scramble for territory, Mr. Jephson says, "the British Government, if it did not actually promise it in so many words, certainly held out hopes of future help and support should the Company, by advancing towards the interior, hold Uganda and the adjacent countries as a sphere of influence for the nation, and prevent any other country from taking it." On this understanding the Company extended its operations to Uganda. Greater difficulties were found there than were anticipated, and the Company soon saw that it could not afford to remain in Uganda without help from the British Government. An agitation was begun in England and funds were raised from private sources, but not sufficient to enable the company to remain permanently in the country. Applications were then made to the Government to prevent the evacuation of Uganda. In answer to these applications Lord Rosebery wrote a letter to the Imperial British East Africa Company conveying the intimation that Her Majesty's Government are prepared to assist the company by a pecuniary contribution towards the cost of prolongation of the occupation for three months, up to the 31st of March, on a scale not exceeding that of the present expenditure. His Lordship is careful to say that this aid is not to be considered as an encouragement to the permanent occupation of the country. The directors have accepted Lord Rosebery's offer, but the indications are that great pressure will be brought to bear on the Government to prevail upon it either to take the country directly under its own protection or to assist the company in occupying it. Mr. Mounteney-Jephson, who has been in Africa and who has witnessed the effect of the withdrawal of foreign protection from a native state, is a strong advocate for the continued occupation of the country. He believes that the Government is morally bound to protect its inhabitants. He says:

It is useless for the Government to keep repeating we have no responsibilities towards the people of Uganda. What constitutes our responsibilities but the expectations which we have raised in the minds of the natives, the expectation of prolonged occupation and protectorate? It is a mere cowardly evasion for the Liberals to try to shift the responsibility on to the Conservatives and for both to lay the blame upon the company, and it is equally cowardly for the company to try to shift all the responsibility from their own shoulders on to those of the Government, for all are responsible who have had anything whatever to do with the occupation of Uganda.

Mr. H. M. Stanley protests vigorously against the desertion of the people who, through British intervention, are not in a position to defend themselves against the powerful enemies by which they are surrounded. The Rev. Horace Waller, who appears to be well acquainted with the country and the condition and circumstances of its inhabitants, deprecates the withdrawal of British protection. Bishop Smythies, of the Universities Mission to Central Africa, declares that, since the British have intruded themselves into Uganda, they are under a moral obligation to remain. The Times, too, advocates the occupation of the country on something like the same grounds as Bishop Smythies. It maintains that the occupation of the country has effected a great change in its condition and in the ability of the natives to defend themselves. It says: "We may, if we please, say that we are not responsible for native tribes in the interior. Neither are we if we stay away; but, if we choose to burst into their midst, to upset all their rude politics and to originate disturbances of various kinds over hundreds of thousands of square miles, then our responsibility becomes very real indeed."

It is pretty clear, from all this, that there are very many in Great Britain who are opposed to abandoning Uganda, and it is, we think, pretty safe to predict that, when the 31st of March comes, good and sufficient reason will be found for continuing it under British protection.

TIMELY TRUTH.

The Toronto World tells the Canadian annexationists some very plain but unpalatable truth when commenting upon their complaint that speech is not free in this Dominion. It says:—

But before we draw our main conclusion, we wish to silence once and for all these men who are arguing for annexation and denouncing Sir Oliver Mowat for interfering with "the freedom of Speech," by telling them what would happen to them if they were Yankees and proposed to wipe out the United States. Such traitors would not be tolerated one minute over there; they would be rail-ridden, more likely lynched, if they persisted; and when it was attempted on a wide scale civil war, the most terrible civil war known to history, was the result. These men who are so enamored of Yankee institutions cannot complain if they get Yankee methods and Yankee treatment served out to them! Let any one of our ranting annexationists get up and say that citizens of the United States dare attempt in that country what they themselves are doing in this!

LACROSSE.

The conduct of the men who played the great game of lacrosse in Montreal on Saturday, the 15th inst., excited the admiration of all who witnessed it, and gained for them the hearty commendation of the newspapers of that city. This is what the Gazette says about the match:

Montreal saw a grand lacrosse match on Saturday between two grand teams. The prize was the greatest that has been contended for in Montreal, or anywhere else, for a long time, and the conditions all tended to make the struggle an exciting one. The play was manly and fair throughout; roughness was hardly noticeable, and no fighting had to be lamented when the day was done. The national game has received a vindication that some recent events on the field make welcome if not necessary. It is and can be maintained as a manly game under circumstances most calculated to raise excitement among the participants. When this excitement leads to unfairness or violence in the future, people will take no excuse from the culprits. They, and not the game, will be to blame.

The Star is equally well pleased to see the national game played not only in a skilful but in a gentlemanly manner. It says:

Canadians who have a pride in the national game will feel that sentiment to be "wisibly swelled" after the exhibition of pure lacrosse on Saturday. This year has seen some sights on the lacrosse field that would suggest the fear that, by some untoward accident, the players had adopted from the Indian originators of lacrosse, in lieu of the rules of the game, the customs and practices of a scalping expedition; but on Saturday the two best clubs in the Dominion—which is synonymous with "in the world"—showed that lacrosse can be played by gentlemen. The game was close, fast, exciting, but not brutal; and the victory went to the superior play of the Shamrocks.

The enormous growd that gathered from all points of the compass caught the spirit of the contestants, and distributed their approval of good play with commendable impartiality. And there was much good play to approve. The teams were in old championship form, and to the very last it was what experts call technically "anybody's game." This high example set of gentlemanly lacrosse will do much to restore the game to its old and enviable place in the affections of the people. It is not a game that everybody can play well, but there is none like it from the spectator's point of view. This advantage will be regarded by old lacrossists as one not to be boasted of—as savoring of infra dig.—but so long as the vast majority of folks take their exercise by proxy, while they sit in the grand stand, a game of continuous interest is worth striving for in the arena. Canadian lacrosse, as "the gentlemen of Canada" are wont to play it, is as hard to beat as a game as its players are to excel in it.

We trust that lacrosse men in all parts of the Dominion, when they see how great an interest is taken in their game by Canadians everywhere, and how ready the Press of the country is to say a good word for them when they play the game fairly and without loss of temper, will discountenance improper practices of all kinds, and show the world that Canadian lacrosse men can be gentlemen in the field as well as in the ballroom.

On a Long Cruise.

The Japanese gunboat Kongo, now due here from Hakodate, is one of the best equipped vessels of her class in the navy of the Mikado. She flies the flag of Vice-Admiral Sakurai, is of 2,228 tons displacement and 2,034 h. p., and mounts nine guns. The ship's company includes 16 officers and 198 men, in addition to a number of cadets, for the Kongo is, in a sense, a training ship. It is expected that the Kongo will go from here to New York, via the Horn, and thence to London, England, the longest cruise yet attempted by any vessel of the Japanese navy.

Do Well a Misnomer.

An Indian of the Saanich tribe was before Mr. William Dalby, J. P., in the Provincial court yesterday, charged with a double offence against the Game law—killing seven hen pheasants and also shooting four cock birds for the purpose of making a sale for them. When asked his name the culprit replied with conscious pride:

"Do Well."

"It's a misnomer," was the comment of the court, "the fine is $50, or in default one month's imprisonment at hard labor in the common jail."

The city police have also similar charges against the unfortunate Saanich tribesman.

An Entertaining Lecture.

Postmaster Shakespeare delivered a lecture in the James Bay Methodist church last night, which was illustrated by a number of stereopticon views that included incidents from the lives of Joseph and John Wesley, and a number of temperance subjects such as "The Drunkard's Reform," "The Battle," etc. In addition to these there were shown a number of public building and prominent men of England and America. A large and well pleased audience listened to the lecture, which was highly entertaining and instructive. The musical part of the programme was furnished by the choir. The exhibition was in aid of the Sunday School of the James Bay Methodist church. Mr. Shakespeare, yesterday, received a series of slides, 60 in number, illustrating a tour around the world, a lecture upon which subject he proposes to give some time in the near future.

A Song Service.

A service of song was given in the Church of Our Lord, Reformed Episcopal, last night. The programme was rendered by the members of the choir, assisted by some outside local talent. The various numbers were performed in a highly artistic and satisfactory manner, and were much enjoyed by those present. The audience was very large, completely filling the body of the church. The solos by Mr. Worlock, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Schwengers, Mrs. Helmcken and Mr. Offerhaus were all unusually good and, under other circumstances, would have been enthusiastically applauded and encored. The same could be said of the trio "Protect Us Through the Coming Night," sung by Miss Mouat, Mrs. W. R. Higgins and Mrs. Helmcken. The chorus work was good in time and tone, and, taken all together, the service was a pronounced success.

Lecture on Oliver Cromwell.

Mr. William Marchant delivered a lecture on Oliver Cromwell in the Calvary Baptist Church last night. The hall was well filled and the audience listened with interest to the remarks of the speaker. The lecturer reviewed the life of the illustrious soldier-statesman from boyhood to death, and summed up the surrounding circumstances which made him the man he was. During the progress of the war he was the hero of an hundred fights, and undefeated in every one he marched to victory. The lecturer did not justify the usurpation of power on the part of Cromwell, and denounced the campaign in Ireland. The holding of the Little Parliament was reviewed and explained. As to the character of Cromwell—he was noble, true, warm-hearted and brave. He was neither narrow nor bigoted, but a broad-minded Christian, who was willing to grant the utmost freedom of religion to others. In his family relations he was a good father. This was proven by a number of his letters to his family. The lecture was very eloquent in parts and was well delivered, furnishing a pleasant evening's entertainment.

The Chairman Not Present.

The meeting of the Victoria Lacrosse Club committee, which was called for last evening, was postponed on account of the chairman being absent.

To Welcome the Pastor's Wife.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church have arranged to give a reception on Friday evening, welcoming Mrs. Campbell, wife of the pastor, upon her arrival from the East.

A Hearty Welcome.

The Salvation Army barracks were crowded on Sunday afternoon when a rousing welcome was given to the new Captain, Miss Sarah Smith, who comes here fresh from many victories in Toronto and in Stratford, Ont., her last charge.

The Smallpox Commission.

The Royal Commission on epidemic diseases meets again to-day at 1 o'clock, when a number of witnesses will be called, including Dr. Wade, Dr. Hasell, Dr. Watt, jr., and Dr. Watt, sr. The work of the commission will probably last for the week at any rate.

First-Class Work.

A strong evidence of the excellent work being done by Spratt & Gray is the smooth working of the immense Wheelock engines at the tramway station. After the fire these were overhauled and repaired by that firm, and have worked perfectly from the first time they were moved.

Arranging an Entertainment.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. held a meeting yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of further considering arrangements for a grand entertainment to be given in the near future. Details were discussed and committee reports received. The prospects are bright for a most enjoyable evening's amusement. The date has not been fixed as yet.

Portland Cement Works.

Mr. F. G. Jordan, C.E., of this city, who has long experience to assist him, is about to establish Portland Cement works here, all the raw materials being available on the Island. He has erected a kiln, and the first burning has produced some good samples. In the course of a few days a second kiln will be burned, the result of which is eagerly looked forward to.

Dr. Richardson Summoned.

Chief of the Fire Department Thomas Deasy has taken out a summons calling upon Dr. Richardson to appear in the Police Court and answer to the charge of causing a fire to be lighted within the city limits, without permission from the proper authorities. The case alluded to is the setting fire to a house on the Jubilee Hospital Quarantine grounds last Saturday evening.

Taken to Westminster.

Chief of Police Huston returned to Westminster on Sunday night with his prisoner, Birdie Kazar, arrested here on Friday night for the murder of May Todhunter. The search of the latest prisoner's trunk is said to have brought to light some new evidence, but of just what character is not yet announced. Chief Huston laughs at the attempt that has been made by certain of his friends to create the belief that he only arrested the Beegans when forced to do so. He, of course, had evidence connecting them with the case at the time of May Todhunter's death, but it was not sufficient to warrant their arrest. So they were not arrested. The Westminster sergeant objects to the use that has been made of his name in the matter.

Local Art Work.

The last of the beautiful antique oak furniture for St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral was finished and placed in position, yesterday, by the Sehl-Hastie-Erskine Furniture Co. It consists of pews, pulpit, throne, confessionals, sanctuary furniture, two side altars, and the magnificent grand altar, which stands 43 feet high, the whole costing between $11,000 and $12,000. The entire work was done at the company's factory in this city, under the supervision of Mechanical Manager H. McGuire and his assistant, Mr. Hansen, R. J. Ryan being specially engaged to do the oil finishing and polishing. The altars are almost a facsimile of those in the Jesuit Church at Montreal, which are of oak and were made in Germany. The designs are really beautiful, and Messrs. Sehl-Hastie-Erskine have just cause to feel proud of their work.

A Treat for This Evening.

The entertainment which is to be held in the Cathedral schools to-night, in aid of the Mission fund, bids fair to be the most attractive and novel performance put before the Victorian audience for a long time. The dramatic part is taken entirely by children, who have been rehearsing their parts for months, and who display a proficiency and talent rarely obtained by amateurs. The play itself is an admirable specimen of an old-fashioned burlesque, and abounds in wit and humor, which is exquisitely portrayed by youthful friends. No doubt the affair will be an immense success, as a large number of tickets have been already sold, and great interest is taken. Among the other attractions for the evening is a mandolin solo by Professor Borelli, while the accompaniments will be played by Mr. Pauline.

The programme for the evening is appended:

GOOD-BYE TO THEIR BISHOP.

The Pastor and People of St. James' Church Present a Farewell Address.

Rev. Dr. Hills Preaches His Last Sermon to a Victoria Congregation.

On the conclusion of the morning service in St. James' Church, last Sunday, the Bishop having preached his last sermon in the diocese over which he has so long presided, was presented by the congregation with a handsome illuminated address, giving expression to the general regret at his departure from among those with whom he has been associated for so many years.

The address was engrossed upon parchment by Mr. Mallandaine, beautifully illuminated, and illustrated with views of the church, rectory and school house. Col. R. Wolfenden made the presentation, the address bearing the signatures of Ven. Archdeacon Scriven; Col. Wolfenden and Mr. Tom Kains, the church wardens; Messrs. E. C. Baker, C. J. Leggatt, W. W. Northcott, P. D. Goepel, M. S. Wade, Geo. Jay, Jr., E. W. Mallandaine and John Nicholles, Church Committee, and C. A. Goffin, secretary.

The text of the address is appended:

To the Right Rev. George Hills, D.D., Lord Bishop of Columbia:

"We, the incumbent, church wardens, and church committee, on behalf of the parishioners of St. James', Victoria, desire on this last occasion of your presence amongst us to express our unfeigned regret at the loss which we, in common with the rest of this diocese, are about to experience in your Lordship's departure. We are not unmindful of the many proofs of your Lordship's kindly interest which we have received during the nearly eight years of our experience as a parish, and we sincerely hope and believe that that interest will not cease when you have gone from us.

"We know well that the diocese over which, for more than three and thirty years, you have borne faithful rule as its chief pastor, will ever retain a chief place in your memory, and we ask that this parish may have its share in your kind remembrance and in your prayers.

"We, for our part, shall not cease to remember you with grateful affection; we shall not fail to pray for you, that after your long labor in the Lord's vineyard you may be spared to enjoy peaceful rest. And so we bid you heartily farewell, grieving, indeed, at the thought that we shall see your face and hear your voice no more, but looking forward to that day when pastor and people will meet again in the brighter land where there are no partings."

THE LAST RESTING PLACE.

Solemn Services Conducted by the Lord Bishop on Sunday Afternoon.

A last resting place for the dead of the Church of England was on Sunday consecrated at Ross Bay Cemetery. It is a three-acre plot, situate at the east end of the present cemetery, which it was petitioned should "be set apart with the express intent and purpose that it may be dedicated and consecrated only and wholly for Christian burial, and so continue for ever."

The Bishop of the diocese pronounced the sentence of consecration, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Scriven, Canon Beanlands, Revs. J. B. Hewetson, G. W. Taylor, E. F. Lipscombe, W. H. P. Arden, and W. H. Sharpe. The Bishop was received on the spot by the petitioners and the Registrar, Mr. L. Crease, and the petition of consecration having been read, a procession was formed, which traversed the grounds, a surpliced choir following the ministers and chanting psalms and hymns specially selected for the occasion.

His Lordship put his seal and signature to the lease of the grounds, which were set apart "forever" as the repose of those who die in the Lord. In so doing His Lordship made a very effective address, showing that those who died in the Lord were assured of a happy resurrection, but for all who were put under the earth "ashes to ashes and dust to dust," the judgment and its verdict were a matter of hope and justification.

The prayer of Consecration, which preceded the delivery of the sentence to the Commissary was as follows: "O God, who has taught us in Thy holy word that there is a difference between the spirit of a beast that goeth downwards to the earth, and the spirit of a man who ascendeth up to God who gave; and likewise by the example of Thy holy servants, in all ages, hast taught us to assign peculiar places where the bodies of Thy saints may rest in peace, and be preserved from all indignities, whilst their souls are safely kept in the hands of their faithful Redeemer: Accept, we beseech Thee, this charitable work of ours in separating this portion of ground to that good purpose, and give us grace that, by the frequent instances of mortality which we behold, we may learn and seriously consider how frail and uncertain our condition here on earth is, and so number our days as to apply our hearts unto wisdom. That in the midst of life thinking of death, and daily preparing ourselves for the judgment that is to follow, we may have our part in the resurrection to eternal life with Him who died for our sins and rose again for our justification, and now liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, one God, world without end. Amen."

No Arrests.

The Chief of Police and Officers Smith and Abel made a raid on a den located on Government street, between Cormorant and Fisgard, on Sunday. The place was supposed to be a favorite resort for the Mongolian sports who quiet their shattered nerves with the soothing rattle of the fan-tan checks. Barred doors met the officers of the law, but an axe in the hands of Officer Smith met the doors and so evened up matters. No one was found in the place, and after damaging some tables the force left. A return in the afternoon proved equally fruitless and no arrests were made. The Chinamen gathered about the street in great crowds, and jabbered out "gallery god" comments on the actions of the police.

NEEDS CLEANING UP.

A Dirty and Dangerous Condition of Things in Chinatown.

During the past two days a COLONIST reporter has visited a number of the back yards and alleys of Chinatown with a view to ascertaining the present sanitary condition of that locality. The result of the investigation was the revelation of a mass of filth and dirt almost indescribable. The journey was begun in the dens back of the City Hall, located on property said to belong to Chu Chung. Here boxes of rotting garbage, apparently not emptied for weeks, were standing about, and the stench from the closets in the rear appealed powerfully for non investigation. The yard showed signs of having been cleaned up some time within the past few weeks, and the general condition, though bad enough, was cleanliness itself as compared with some of the places visited later. The rear of Hang Wo Hing's place on Cormorant street was next visited. This place also showed faint signs of having been cleared out some time ago, but now the ground is covered with rotting heaps of debris here and there, while over all is the nameless combination of smells from a hundred dens and pens where King Filth seems to rule supreme. Passing through a small alley off Cormorant street the searcher after smells came upon the brick cabins between Cormorant and Fisgard streets. Here the air was fairly reeking with the stench from an immense public closet, the surroundings of which are quite in keeping so far as filth goes. Here, there and everywhere were heaps of garbage in all stages of decomposition, both in boxes and on the ground. Slimy pens of fowls, gutters running over with stagnant slops. The same condition of affairs exists in the rear of the shops along Government street, between Cormorant and Fisgard streets.

Thieves Make a Clean Up.

Word was received by wire yesterday of the robbery of a solitary cabin near the Jordan river station during the absence of the proprietor, a man known as Louie. The thieves, supposed to have been whiskey smugglers, secured the guns, rifles, and in fact everything moveable. Had the cabin been other than it is, a miserable, ricketty old shack, the supposition is it would have been taken too.

Presentation to Bishop Hills.

It is expected that there will be a very full attendance at the Synod office this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, of all churchmen, both lay and clerical, and all persons interested in giving expression to their appreciation of the pastoral labors and long administration of His Lordship Bishop Hills in this diocese, so soon to be severed. No special or other notices than the advertisement in the press have been given.

Improvements at St. Saviour's.

Many improvements have recently been made in the pretty little church of the Holy Saviour, Victoria West, for the majority of which the young people of the congregation are to be thanked. They have labored well and the results of their labor are now to be seen. The new chancel screen is of handsome perpendicular design in handsome cedar; the new pulpit, also of cedar, is formed of panels and columns alternating, and an elaborate altar table completes the recent additions of church furniture. All are the design and work of Mr. A. Cave. The sanctuary, too, has been furnished with dossal curtains and three large lamps have been placed in the nave, one the gift of Mr. Charles Holmes, who is about leaving for England. The Guild now meets every Monday evening at the rector's residence, all members of the parish being invited.

That Tired Feeling

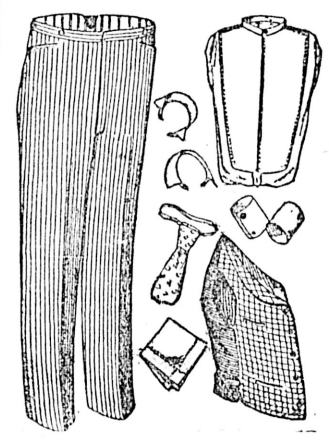

The marked benefit which people overcome by That Tired Feeling derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." J. B. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, being convinced that I was troubled with Dyspepsia complicated with Liver and Kidney troubles. ON THE WEST COAST.

Vague Reports of an Epidemic of Smallpox Among the Indians.

The Department will Take Vigorous Measures to Prevent the Disease Gaining a Start.

Word has just been received from the West Coast that smallpox is epidemic among the Indians, and that vigorous measures will be required to stamp out the disease.

Mr. John L. Penney, managing director of the Pacific Sealing Company, who was one of the first to hear the report, promptly communicated the facts in his possession to he Indian Department, and promised to give full particulars on his return from a visit to the stations on which he left on the schooner Favorite last evening.

Reliable information is hard to obtain, but it is stated that the cases heard of are very scattered, the disease existing among the natives as far north as Esperanza, and one death having occurred. Mr. Penney advises the sending of the Government steamer to the scene of danger, with plenty of good vaccine and a competent man to superintend its use. He thinks, too, that a visit should be paid to each settlement, and every patient or suspect be isolated and provided for, as the disease would prove particularly destructive should it once secure a start. Mr. Guillod, the Indian agent, will do his best, but he is alone and his supply of vaccine is limited to 300 points, sent down some time ago.

Superintendent Vowell is inclined to think the reports current are very much exaggerated; he has advised Mr. Guillod to exert himself to the utmost in detecting and caring for any case that may be found to exist. As yet no case has been definitely proved to be smallpox.

On the Indian reserve here the last patient has been discharged well, and the suspects, after passing through the disinfecting process, discharged from custody. The bedding, etc., has been destroyed, and every precaution taken to prevent a return of the disease.

EXPLANATORY LETTER.

To the Editor:—I observe your remarks with reference to what you term a very delicate question raised by the Mayor regarding the $25,000 street loan by-law.

I do not object to being held responsible for opinions I express, but I cannot extend that responsibility to your version. There is a by-law, published in your paper, known as the "Local Improvement By-Law"; by its provisions the Council decided that the cost of constructing certain works and improvements mentioned in section 273 of the Municipal Act, 1892, is to be paid for out of funds raised by a special rate levied upon the property benefited.

There is do doubt a necessity, but much difficulty and some unfairness in adapting this system fully to sidewalks and roads in this city, as it has been the practice for years to construct and maintain such works ont of current revenue or borrowed money.

Personally I advised the application of the system to sewerage works, street extensions and widening, in the first instance, with public discussion through the press and upon the platform at public meetings, before deciding upon its more extended application, but the Council, after much discussion and many meetings, decided to adopt your advice and passed a by-law applying the system to the construction of all of the works the Municipal Act gives them power to. This brings about a very radical change, and, in my opinion, to be successful should be accompanied by either an abolition of the tax upon improvements or a reduction in the general rate of taxation. The Street by-law has also been amended so as to conform with the new order of things as regards sidewalks, and it also now confines the power of the council to maintaining and repairing footpaths and sidewalks. The Local Improvement by-law became law on the 15th September. On the 28th September the council passed a by-law for the purpose of borrowing $25,000 to maintain streets and sidewalks and construct and improve bridges; this was placed before the ratepayers and their assent obtained. At the same time a by-law to authorize the council to borrow $100,000 to construct and improve certain surface drains was rejected by the ratepayers. Amongst the work specified was a brick sewer three feet in diameter, known as the View street drain; estimated cost, $20,000. This work is not designed simply to drain the roadway on View street, but to carry off the water from a large area of the city.

After the rejection of the Surface drain by-law the Street committee presented a report to the council recommending that a 16-inch pipe drain, estimated cost, $5,000, be laid on View street instead of the more permanent brick sewer; 550 feet of box drain constructed and laid, 730 feet of sidewalks constructed, and some additional men employed to clean the streets, concluding with the recommendation that the works were to be carried out as soon as the Council had funds at its disposal for the purpose. The report was on motion adopted by the Council.

Before putting the question I pointed out that if the expectation of the committee was to pay for this work out of the $25,000 Street Loan By-law, 1892, that I questioned the power of the Council to apply any portion of that sum to any of the purposes mentioned except for the item of employing men to clean the streets, as the ratepayers had declined to allow the Council to borrow money to construct the View street and other drains, and the Council had passed a by-law saying that such works were to be constructed under the Local Improvement By-law. I never expressed the opinion as your language indicates that in maintaining a street the Council were precluded from cutting a side drain or ditch along it, or from putting in a culvert across it, in order to drain the road, paying for such work out of the $25,000.

I did say that when the Street committee presented a report recommending work which was to be paid for out of the proceeds of the $25,000 loan that it ought to be accompanied by a certificate from the City Engineer and Street committee that the expenditure contemplated was either for maintaining streets or sidewalks then constructed, or for improving and constructing bridges, and was not for constructing work which the local improvement by-law said should be specially assessed against the proper immediately benefited.

It is obvious that the mayor and a number of the aldermen cannot have a personal knowledge of all the work which might be recommended by the Street committee. When money is borrowed it can only be properly applied for the purpose sanctioned by the ratepayers, and when by-laws are passed by a board of aldermen, they should not ignore them. This is all that such a certificate would assure. Personally, I favor a brick sewer on View street, it was the city engineer's recommendation, and I am given to understand, would be a lasting benefit to a very large area of the city, and would become a portion of the system required to carry off storm water which is not to enter the sewers. I have no doubt you will observe an inconsistency in the recent proposition to borrow $100,000 for surface drainage.

Spiritualism, Sunday Night.

Prof. C. Murray, the test medium, gave a public lecture and exhibition of his powers in Pioneer Hall on Sunday evening. The admission was free and the hall was crowded. The professor gave a short opening address on the objects of spiritualism in general and himself in particular, and then proceeded to the test. A number of names of spirits said to be present were called out, age and sex described and in some cases the place of birth named. After each name had been mentioned those present were asked if they knew of such a person. In most cases an affirmative answer was received. The names called were mostly those of old timers in the country quite well known to those present. This was so patent that one of the audience unkindly suggested that the professor had been prowling around the cemetery and renewing old acquaintances. One or two messages were received from the "other side" to some one present who was invited to call at the professor's office and get them.

THE GREAT NORTH LAND.

Good Prospects Ahead for Placer Mining — Encouraging Results of Last Year's Work.

One of the first survey parties to go out during the present year for the Provincial Lands and Works Department was that headed by Mr. N. G. Gauvreau. This party was also about the first to return, having arrived here on Sunday, after a long trip, from where the summer's work was done.

Mr. Gauvreau left here early in May last with a party of three men, accompanied by Capt. Moore, the latter one of the pioneers of that great North land of which so little is yet known, but which seems to offer so many inducements to those who are willing to forego for a time the advantages of civilization, and take the chances of making a fortune by developing what is now, practically speaking, a barren, snow-bound land. The party went from here to the Skeena river, and thence by the Taltan river and up to the head of the Takou, a stream known by the Indians as the Inkling river. From there the work was continued as far as the big lakes which form part of the boundary between British Columbia and Alaska.

Heretofore the existence of these lakes has not been known of, although it has been reported that there were some large bodies of water in the interior. None of the maps at present in use have these lakes located and this being known, the difficulties of the trip and survey may be the better understood. There is one lake just between this Province and Alaska known as the Teslin lake, a large fine body of water, on the banks of which some mining has already been done. The greater portion of this lake is in British Columbia, the balance being in Alaskan territory. West of this is Atling lake, another fine body of water and very broad, the greater portion of it being also in British Columbia.

Speaking to a Colonist reporter last evening, Mr. Gauvreau said:

"The country we were over this year has never been surveyed, although for some years miners have been in there. The Cassiar range runs from the Skeena, or above there, to the Yukon, and on the east side, where there are many creeks and streams, there is plenty of gold, and will be great opportunities for placer mining. Miners I met up there tell me they can make from $2 to $10 per day mining on the bars, and in a few years many more men will be in there. Our work during the summer has been largely tract surveying and making general notes of what we saw for the use of the Lands and Works department. There is some good land up there which might be used for agricultural purposes but for the frosts, as it is too far north.

"When at the Skeena this summer I heard of the results of our work last year. Some 60 or 70 families have gone in there to settle on land we reported on as a result of the information we obtained, and I understand there are applications continually coming in for reports and maps."

A report on the work done during the present year will be given to the Government as soon as possible. It will be awaited with interest, and will no doubt contain very much information which will be very valuable and will assist materially in opening up the great "unknown" lands of the North.

A BY-LAW

To provide for the assessment of Real Property benefited by Local Improvements.

Whereas it is provided in the Municipal Act of 1892 that the Council of a city municipality may pass by-laws for assessing real property benefited by certain classes of local improvements;

And whereas it is expedient that the provisions of said Act in respect to such local improvements should be applied to the city of Victoria:

Therefore, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the said city enacts as follows:

1. The cost of constructing the works and improvements mentioned in section 273 of the Municipal Act 1892 and the subsections thereof shall be assessed, levied and collected by means of a special rate for local improvements upon the real property benefited thereby.

2. The said Municipal Council may by resolution determine and specify what work or improvements it is desirable to have carried out.

3. On the passage of such resolution, and after it shall have been entered in the minutes of the Council, copies thereof shall be transmitted by the Clerk to the City Engineer and City Assessor.

4. On the receipt by the City Engineer of a copy of the said resolution, it shall be his duty to proceed at once to ascertain the said works or improvements and to make, and certify as correct, a plan and description thereof, and to make an estimate of the expenses or cost thereof, and to ascertain, determine and show on said plan what real property will be immediately benefited by the proposed improvements, and the City Engineer and City Assessor shall after such plan has been made, and certified, conjointly ascertain and determine the proportions in which the assessment is to be made on the various portions of the real property so benefited, and shall make a joint report of all such matters to the said Council, which report, when approved of and adopted by the said Council, shall be entered by the City Clerk in a book to be kept for that purpose, to be called the "Local Improvement Book," and a copy of the plan aforesaid shall be made by the said Engineer and filed in the office of the City Clerk.

5. The said report of the City Engineer and Assessor shall state:

(a) What real property will be immediately benefited by the proposed improvements,

(b) The probable lifetime of the improvements.

(c) An estimate of the probable cost of the proposed improvements and the amount thereof which will be assessed against the property immediately benefited.

(d) The proportions in which the assessment is to be made on the various portions of the real property so benefited.

6. It shall be the duty of the Sanitary or Sewerage Engineer, when so authorized by a resolution of the Council to perform the duties set forth in this by-law as being required of the City Engineer.

7. In ascertaining and determining the cost of laying, making, enlarging, or constructing or prolonging any common sewer, the said City Engineer and Assessor shall estimate the cost of the construction of branch sewers to the line of the street and include the cost of such branch sewers in estimating the assessment for such sewers, or common sewers and reporting to the Council thereon.

8. In any case where in order to afford an outlet for the sewerage and drainage of real property other than that fronting or abutting upon a street in which a sewer is or is proposed to be hereafter constructed such sewer shall be constructed of a larger capacity than that which is, in the opinion of the said City Engineer and Assessor, required for the efficient sewerage and drainage of the real property fronting or abutting upon the street, then and in every case the said City Engineer and Assessor shall estimate, determine and report to the Council what amount of special assessment should in their opinion be imposed on the other real property benefited by the construction of such sewer or drain.

9. When a vacant space intervenes between the line of a street and a building into which or under which a sewer pipe is to be taken, the said City Engineer and Assessor shall ascertain, estimate, determine and report as aforesaid the cost of laying the sewer pipe across such vacant space and under such building, and shall assess the cost of the same against such real property so to be connected with such sewer.

10. In all cases where a main sewer is or shall be laid in any street or through any lot or land, the said City Engineer and Assessor shall ascertain and determine the cost per foot frontage of such main sewer upon the lots (except corner lots) on each side of the portion of the said street or on the lands on each side of said sewer in which or through which the said sewer shall from time to time be laid. In case any of such lots are corner lots, the assessment shall be one-half the said rates, and the said engineer and assessor shall so report.

11. When the Local Improvement shall consist of the opening, widening, prolonging, constructing, or altering macadamizing, grading, levelling, paving, or planking any street, lane, alley, public way or place or any sidewalk, or any bridge forming part of a highway therein, or curbing, sodding planting any street, lane, alley, square or other public place, or reconstructing or constructing any work by statute provided for, the said City Engineer and Assessor shall, except as provided for in section 11 of this By-Law, ascertain and determine the cost of such improvement or work per foot fronting of all real property fronting or abutting upon the street or place wherein or whereon such improvement or work is proposed to be made or done.

12. In case when it is the duty of the Engineer and Assessor to ascertain and determine the proportion of assessment to local improvements, works and services on corner lots, triangular or other irregular shaped pieces of land situated on the intersections or junctions of streets, the said Engineer and Assessor shall recommend what in their opinion would be an equitable mode of assessment, by having due regard to the situation, value and superficial area of such lots as compared with adjoining lots and pieces of land accessible for such improvements, works and services, and may charge or assess the amount of any allowance made on any such lot or piece of land or the other real property fronting on the improvements or assume the same as a portion of the municipality's share of the improvements as may seem equitable and just.

13. In ascertaining and determining the assessment to be made on lands on either side of a street, lane or alley, which are from any cause unfit for building purposes as compared with the building lots fronting on said street, lane or alley, the said Engineer and Assessor shall, in all cases, determine in what proportion the assessment for any local improvement shall be borne by the lands on each side of such street, lane or alley.

14. When the local improvement shall consist of the construction or repair of any bridge or culvert on any street, lane or alley for the opening up or extending of any street, lane or alley for the more immediate convenience or benefit of any locality, and if from any cause it shall seem to the said Engineer and Assessor inequitable to charge the whole of the cost of improvement on the lands fronting thereon the said Engineer and Assessor shall report and recommend as to what lands are benefited by such works or improvements and the proportion in which the cost thereof shall be assessed against the land so benefited.

15. As soon as the report of the City Engineer and Assessor shall have been received and the report of any amendment thereof shall have been adopted by the Council and entered by the Clerk in the Local Improvement Book as aforesaid, the Clerk shall, save as provided in the following section, cause the said report or a necessary part thereof, or any other sufficient notice describing the nature of the proposed improvement and the assessment proposed to be levied therefor, to be inserted in at least one newspaper published in the municipality for a period of fifteen days.

16. No such published notice as aforesaid shall be given when the proposed improvement consists of the construction of branch sewers to connect any real property with a common sewer, or connecting any building with a branch sewer, or making necessary house or building connections with such sewer, or of laying a sewer pipe across any vacant space and under any building when such vacant space intervenes between a line of a street and such building. In all such cases the cost of the same shall be payable and paid by the owner of such real property so connected with the sewer, and shall be a charge upon such real property, and if any damage be done to this portion of the sewer or its connections or its fittings either by neglect or otherwise, the cost of the same shall be paid by the owner of the real property, and shall be charged as aforesaid, whenever the Council authorize and have made the repairs to the same.

17. If within such period of fifteen days, as aforesaid, any petition is presented against any improvement or assessment of which notice has been duly advertised, as provided, it shall be the duty of the Assessor to ascertain and finally determine in accordance with Sub-section 20, of Section 273, of the Municipal Act, 1892, and report to the council whether the said petition is signed by a majority of the owners of such real property, representing at least one-half in value of said real property and to certify his finding upon the said petition, and to report the same to the Council.

18. Should such petition as aforesaid not be presented to the Council, or should the Assessor certify on any petition that may have been presented that said petition is not signed by a majority of the owners of such real property as may be affected by the proposed improvements, and representing one-half in value of such property, then and in each case the Council shall proceed with the proposed improvements under such terms and conditions as to the payment of the cost of such improvement as the Council may by by-law provide that behalf regulate and determine.

19. Section 4 of the Street By-Law is hereby amended by striking out the words "graded constructed" in the first line thereof.

20 Any by-law or by-laws containing any provision or provisions which may be, or which are inconsistent with or repugnant to the provisions of this by-law is and are hereby repealed in so far only as the same are so inconsistent or repugnant, but not otherwise so as that full force and effect shall be given to the provisions of this By-Law.

21. This By-law may be cited as the "Local Improvement By-law, 1892." Passed the Municipal Council the 6th day of September, 1892. Reconsidered and finally passed the 9th day of September, 1892.

CABLE CORRESPONDENCE.

Britain in East Africa—Political Complications--Royal Betrothal--Earth Quakes and Storms.

The Prince of Wales and the World's Fair—Portuguese Elections—Anarchist Meeting.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The jingo party is finding in Lord Rosebery's reply to the deputation from the Anti-Slavery Society fresh hope that Uganda will be occupied in the name of the Queen.

The Times sees in this speech proof that Lord Rosebery is personally in sympathy with the aims of the deputation. His Lordship certainly does not share the uncompromising view entertained by his colleagues against the occupation of Uganda. It was in deference to his views that a compromise was arrived at, providing for the extension of the stay of the agents of the British East Africa Company for a period of three months. The Times seizes the opportunity to incite the jingo party to bring every influence to bear upon the Government to induce them to take this leap into dark, equatorial Africa. It is not likely that the cabinet, otherwise unanimous, will be induced to take charge of the white elephant which Punch represents the British East Africa Company proffering to dubious John Bull.

The impression in some quarters is that a prolongation of the term of occupation by the company will suffice to bring the matter within the purview of the House of Commons next session. That would, however, be too late, as so remote is the district and so arduous the route that fully three months would be required between the issue of an order, whether for the withdrawal or occupation, and its accomplishment. The final decision of the Cabinet will have to be taken before the end of December, and it may possibly be reached at one of the Cabinet councils to be held within the next fortnight.

The Standard's correspondent at Odessa says: Five villages near Kutsis, in Trans-Caucasia, have been destroyed by earthquake. Many lives are reported lost. So far the bodies of twenty-seven persons have been recovered.

The Chronicle's Vienna correspondent says: The Czarowitch will be formally betrothed at Athens to his cousin, Princess Marie of Greece, the Czar, as the head of the orthodox Greek church, having granted the dispensation which was necessary on account of the consanguinity of the parties to the contract.

At a dinner party at Newmarket last week the Prince of Wales was asked if there was any truth in the report of his proposed visit to Chicago. He replied that he doubted whether he could get away next year at a suitable time. Upon the suggestion that the exhibition would probably be kept over for a second season, the Prince said he then might be able to arrange to visit it.

Latest advices from Cagliari give an appalling account of the terrible storm and flood in Sardinia on Thursday and Friday, in which hundreds of lives were lost and thousands of dollars worth of live stock and property destroyed. Six villages, with a total population of 6,000, were invaded by water, scores of dwellings and barns demolished, and hundreds of people, who sought refuge on roofs, drowned. When the work of rescue commenced, dozens of persons were found huddled on elevated land, half dead from terror and exposure. One hundred bodies were recovered at San Sperate alone.

An anarchist meeting held in Paris to-day terminated in a melee, in which knives and revolvers were freely used. Four anarchists were arrested.

The general elections were held in Portugal to-day. Four Monarchists and two Republicans were elected for Lisbon, and three Monarchists and one Republican for Oporto. The returns indicate that the cabinet will have a large majority. Senor Caravalho, ex-minister of finance, and Senor Benhuray, banker, were elected after a heated contest. Riots occurred at Dientra and other places, and were suppressed by troops.

The ceremony of christening the infant princess born to the German Emperor and Empress, on September 13, took place on Saturday evening in the jasper gallery of the Potsdam palace with great pomp. The names bestowed on the child were Victoria Louise, the first being the name of the Emperor's mother and the other that of his father's sister, the Grand Duchess of Baden.

A band of smugglers swooped down on the carbineer station between Tharifa and Trafalgar on Friday evening, and carried off eight carbineers who had been detailed to prevent smuggling operations. The smugglers sacked the station and burned it, and then carried the guards off to the mountains and they have not since been heard from.

Lieutenant Von. A Lady at the Bay of Quinte Fair.

She Makes an Important Confession.

A lady who was visiting the Bay of Quinte Fair in Belleville, Ont., on September 29th, assured the writer that Harvard Bronchial Syrup was the means of curing a troublesome cough and bronchial troubles, from which she had suffered severely during the first week of September.

She said: "My condition was becoming serious; the painful cough kept me awake night after night, and my chest was very sore. I tried several remedies without good results; I then consulted my doctor who advised me to give the Harvard Bronchial Syrup a trial. The first dose seemed to have a soothing effect. After using it for twelve hours the cough was almost banished and I slept comfortably and well. I continued the use of the wonderful Syrup for four days and it cured me perfectly."

This justly popular cough remedy is doing just such work every day. There are no failures where it is used. It is instant in action, pure in composition, and pleasant to the taste. Once used it becomes the favorite. Ask your druggist for Harvard Bronchial Syrup and take no other, if you desire a quick cure.

Away up in the tower of the Pulitzer building, fifteen stories from the street, in a cozy room that overlooks the lower part of the city and the glorious bay, there sits a young, handsome and brainy woman. She is Miss E. G. Jordan, editor of the woman's and children's pages of the New York Sunday World and assistant editor of The Sunday World.

She is always dressed in elegant and fashionable gowns—severely simple and stylish. She is tall, beautifully proportioned, and makes a charming picture as one opens the door of her little sanctum. Her hair is dark and worn in plain classic coil. Her eyes are clear, deep and of an intellectual gray. Although her brain and hands are full of work, she never seems hurried or ill at ease. Miss Jordan is always courteous and cordial to visitors, and cannot fail to make a charming impression upon all who meet her.

Elizabeth G. Jordan was born in Milwaukee May 9, 1867. She went into newspaper work in 1887, after her graduation from the state university. She was connected with Peck's Sun for one year, having charge of the woman's department and doing general editorial work. During this time she was also a special writer for the St. Paul Globe, Chicago Tribune and a number of large southern dailies.

In 1888 Miss Jordan went to Chicago and did special writing for The Tribune of that city. She went to New York early in 1890, at the invitation of Colonel Cockerill, then editor in chief of the New York World. She has been connected with The World ever since. During the first year she did all around reporting. Her special out of town assignments included a trip through the Virginia and Tennessee mountains, which she made on horseback, accompanied only by a negro guide, sleeping in the cabins of the mountaineers by night, and identifying herself with their home life as closely as possible.

The work on which she made her reputation was the publication of The World's "True Stories of the News," one of which appeared in The World every morning. They were chronicles of the happenings in a great city, and ranged from the humorous to the deeply tragic. The preparation of these articles took Miss Jordan into the hospitals, police stations and police courts, the morgue and the great east side tenements of New York. She soon became known to the majority of the city officials, who were very helpful to her in gathering her material. One night she went to the charitable hospital on Blackwell's island to write up the death of a consumptive. She sat by the side of the dying woman from 6 o'clock in the evening until twenty minutes past 2 the next morning, when the patient expired. Another time she went to the morgue at midnight to find the body of a baby whose parents could not afford to give it burial, and which had died in their arms on the street as they were taking it to the hospital. Her story of this baby brought in enough money to bury the child in Greenwood and to make the parents comfortable for some time to come. MEL R. COLQUITT.

A New Book Rack.

Here is a rack roughly made for holding reference books by a literary man who was camping out and had no book shelves with him. He is so pleased with its convenience that he intends to have one made nicely of oak for his town residence.

For a foundation he used a champagne box without the cover. Side pieces of wood the width of the box and high enough to enable a person sitting to see the books open on the top shelf were nailed firmly to each end. These were first cut out at the top in V shape, leaving a right angled opening. Over this was laid a long board projecting at each end, to whose lower edge a strong cleat of wood was fastened, as on a reading desk. A piece of board was also fastened, slanting in the box below, to support the big volumes set on edge therein. On the shelf above a dictionary is kept always open, and another row of big volumes is held in position by the cleat and tin library supports slipped under the end book.

Women are more vitally interested in good city government than men. Good city government means clean, well lighted streets, safe by day and night, first class public schools, beautiful parks and shade trees, abundance of pure water and absence of dens of vice wherein sons and brothers are corrupted and ruined. Think of these things and then consider whether woman has no call to meddle in "politics."

FOR THE COMPLEXION

PRACTICAL POINTERS CONCERNING POWDERS AND COSMETICS.

How to Make Face Masks and Skin Bleachers—A False Nose Would be a Boon to the Summer Girl—Internal Cosmetics.

[Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.]

The GREATEST damage done to the complexions of today is by the constant change of treatment and outward application. The mixing of many harmless ingredients on the delicate texture of the skin is as bad as the steady application of one that is injurious. Women, through ignorance, abuse the skin as they would not any fabric in their wardrobe, yet it is more delicate than any. Inasmuch as women will tamper with their complexions and use outward applications, I give a few that cannot possibly harm and may help.

Pure powder, properly applied, never of itself hurt any skin. Aside from the temporary effect it refines the texture and preserves it by catching dust and soil and the sun's rays. It is cheap powder carelessly used that hurts. It must be kept perfectly clean, the chamois frequently washed, but above all powder must never be washed off by soap and water. This makes a soiled plaster which lodges in the pores, makes it dark and yellow, and is one of the most fruitful sources of "blackheads." A safe cream or oil should be laid on and allowed to remain during the preparation for retiring, and well wiped off before the bath of warm water and soap. After the bath apply retiring cream and let it remain on all night—well rubbed in.

A thoroughly good and safe mask preparation is this: Beat the white of an egg stiff, add fifteen drops of almond oil, a trifle more of rosewater, about as much powdered alum as a doctor gives in a quinine powder; stir well together into a sweet smelling cream. Spread upon a cloth in which eyes, nose and mouth have been cut and tie on at night by means of three strings in each side. Apply about every other night for a week, and in nine out of ten faces a remarkable improvement will have taken place. The laughter that will ensue if three or four girls form a "mask party" will not be lost on the good looks.

Raw veal or beef applied in this way is a method used with great success by many for freshening up a skin jaded by overwork. It is one of Mrs. Langtry's favorite beautifiers.

One of the most efficient and simple skin bleaches in the world is: To fifteen cents' worth of glycerin add an equal quantity of rosewater. Mix one ounce of borax and four of alcohol and add one teaspoonful of the mixture to the above. Some are afraid of glycerin, but there is not enough of it to harm any, and its effects are made valuable by the other ingredients.

In bygone times ladies wore masks during outdoor exercises, especially during the hunt. I wish the practice might be restored for our summer rambles. A false nose certainly might be introduced, which under a veil would not be perceptible, and would do away with that foe to all summer comfort for some—the red nose. After a long ride last summer two girls used a bleach which had been recommended by one who had used it successfully. From one it removed the sun's kisses in a night: on the other it brought out a regular bridge of pimples across the nose and both cheeks to the ears! Zinc ointment cured them quickly. Camphor and camphorated vaseline must be avoided, being hair producers, but there is nothing like the latter to kill a pimple; sweet almond oil is also good. A little tannin and opium mixed with the retiring cream is a harmless, quick, sure cure for red nose. Specialists now have a way of reducing redness by compressing the blood vessels.

Buttermilk is splendid to bleach and make smooth the skin. One tablespoonful of tincture benzoin added to equal parts (about ten cents' worth) glycerin and rosewater makes a good steady wash. A few drops of tincture of benzoin in bath water is beneficial to the skin, but too much makes it yellow. One ounce lemon juice, one-quarter dram powdered borax, one-half dram sugar tightly corked up for a few days will remove freckles temporarily. Roncegno water, a colorless mineral water which comes, I believe, from south Tyrol, in Switzerland, and which is highly impregnated with iron and arsenic, will cause freckles to disappear without breaking or harming the skin. Borax, camphor and cologne is a splendid application for greasy noses. Hazelnut powder is a good "wash off" at night. It is mixed with a little warm water in the hand and rubbed into the face before the hot water bath. Retiring cream to be applied after.

In the line of internal cosmetics clover tea is first, last and always. There is nothing to compare with it. It works like magic in all cases and can hurt none. It tones up the health as well as beautifies the skin, and it has been known to cure incipient cancer. It comes in little pressed packages, is steeped just like tea and should be drank freely.

Taraxacum and charcoal are purifying, but severe. Carrots are the best vegetable for the texture of the skin. Beets make blood, and, singularly enough, they are the chief ingredient in the making of the best modern rouge of the day. Sweet oil on eyebrows makes them grow. In most cases they may be made to grow luxuriantly by fussing with them, massaging with cream, brushing, combing, etc. Washing in tea darkens them. Eyebrows are absolutely necessary to bring out the other features of the face.

Threw Away His Crutches—A True Account Of A Remarkable Event.

STATEMENT OF MR. McNEE.

FOR eight years I was troubled with a sore on my leg which resulted from having it broken. The doctors kept me in bed five months trying to heal it up, but all to no purpose. I tried all sorts of salves, liniments, ointments, pills and blood medicines but with no benefit. In 1883 it became so bad that I had to sit on one chair and put my foot on another for four months. I could not put my foot to the ground or the blood would rush out in a stream and my leg swelled to twice its natural size. Eleven running sores developed on it which reduced me to a living skeleton (I lost 70 lbs. in four months) Friends advised me to go to the Hospital; but I would not, for I knew they would take my leg off. The doctor then wanted to split it open and scrape the bone, but I was too weak to stand the operation. One old lady said it had turned to black erysipelas and could never be cured. I had never heard of Burdock Blood Bitters then, but I read of a minister, Rev. Mr. Stout, who had been cured of a severe abscess on the neck by B. B. B., after medical aid had failed, and I thought I would try it. I washed the leg with the Bitters and took them according to directions. After using one bottle I could walk on crutches, after taking three, I threw away the crutches, took a scythe and went to work in the field. At the end of the sixth bottle my leg was entirely healed up; pieces of loose bone had worked out of it and the cords came back to their natural places again. That was nine years ago and it has never broken out since. I can walk five miles to-day as fast as any one, and all this I owe to B. B. B., which certainly saved my leg if not my life. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Give B. B. B. a trial, and it will cure you as it did me.

Yours truly, WM MCNEE, St. Ives P.O., Ont.

Mr. F. C. Sanderson, the druggist of St. Marys, Ont., certifies to the entire truthfulness of the remarkable statement made by Mr. McNee, and says that several other wonderful cures have been made in his district by this unrivalled remedy for bad blood, dyspepsia, billiousness, constipation and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE.

Full Discussion of the Difficulties—The Managers Directed to Pay in Advance.

There was a very large attendance, last evening, at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church congregational meeting to discuss the questions at issue between the Board of Managers and the pastor, Rev. P. McF. Macleod. The chair was occupied by Senator McInnes, who filled the position very acceptably.

Mr. R. B. McMicking, chairman of the Board of Managers, opened the discussion by reading a statement from the managers of their case.

Rev. Mr. Macleod followed, and in a lengthy and temperate speech reviewed the history of the troubles. He expressed himself as willing to meet the members of the Board in any way possible, and said he had never yet received a cent of money as salary from any church, which money did not come out of the general revenue and was paid freely and willingly by the congregation.

After several more speeches, a resolution was moved by Mr. J. R. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Soule, expressing confidence in the Board of Managers in their direction of the temporal affairs of the church.

This motion was voted upon by ballot, the roll being called to see that only members of the church voted. The voting occupied over an hour's time.

There were 144 votes cast, 64 for the resolution and 80 against it, thus sustaining Rev. Mr. Macleod's position by 16 majority.

Mr. J. S. Yates then moved, seconded by Dr. Milne, that the Board of Managers be instructed to pay Rev. Mr. Macleod his salary for October, forthwith, and to arrange with the pastor for the payment of his salary for November.

This resolution also carried, and the meeting adjourned at 12:05 o'clock.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Bubear Challenged—Slaughter of Sheep by Would-Be Sports.

THE RIFLE.

"SPORTSMEN," SO CALLED.

TO THE SPORTING EDITOR:—Will you kindly publish the enclosed, taken from the Vernon News of October 20, in order that the perpetrator of the butchery may possibly feel ashamed of himself. He is known in Vernon and a resident of Vancouver.

FORTY-FIVE NINETY.

Reports are constantly coming from the Lower country of wanton slaughter of game. The latest case, and one which has aroused a great amount of indignation among the settlers of the lower Okanagan and sportsmen through the district generally is that of a couple of individuals, one from Vancouver and the other from Nicola, who are certainly not sportsmen. These two individuals, guided by a rancher from near Princeton, went into the Ashnola valley where there was a fine flock of mountain sheep that the settlers have been taking care of. They killed seven ewes out of the flock and left the carcases lying on the hills to rot. A more unsportsmanlike action would be difficult to conceive, and the indignation is so strong against the perpetrators of this idiotic piece of wantonly brutal butchery that if evidence sufficient to convict them can be obtained they will be punished for it severely. If our game is to be preserved vigorous action must be taken to protect animals from ghouls of this kind, who may imagine that they are sportsmen but whose conduct shows them to be utterly devoid of the qualities which are supposed to actuate sportsmen.

THE OAR.

AFTER BUBEAR'S SCALP.

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—Geo. H. Hosmer, who, with Jake Gaudaur, defeated Hanlan and O'Connor in a double scull race at Orillia last Saturday, was here yesterday en route for Boston. Before leaving he issued a challenge to Geo. Bubear, the English oarsman, offering a race in best-and-best boats over the Tyne or Thames championship course for $1,000 a side, providing Bubear will allow reasonable expenses.

Returned Safely.

Fred Smith, one of the crew of the schooner Challenger, which was supposed to be lost, arrived in town from the North last night. The Challenger was seized by the United States Government and held, the whole crew being imprisoned for a month. The various adventures of the crew on the trip would fill a good sized book and make interesting reading. Fred arrived safe and sound and is having a laugh at the expense of those who thought him lost with his vessel.

The Mock Parliament Reorganized.

The Victoria Parliamentary Debating society held their first meeting of the season in the Sir William Wallace hall last evening. Over 20 members attended and the interest evinced and enthusiasm displayed bespeaks for the debaters a prosperous and instructive season. The nomination of officers resulted in the unanimous election of Ald. H. A. Munn as president and governor-general; John Steavenson as speaker; Onslow Newling, secretary. The vote on the following nominations will take place on Monday evening next: Treasurer—Messrs. Hawkins, Litchfield, Hampson, Barker and Dutton; Executive Council—Messrs. Berridge, Dutton, Morphy, Steavenson, Hampson, Pope, Barker, Wood, Parmiter, Litchfield, Roper, Hawkins and Vidler. A. E. Dutton was chosen as clerk of the House, and Mr. W. S. Hampson as chairman of committees for Parliamentary bills. The parties are very evening divided at present. As Mr. Gordon Hunter has announced his intention of resigning the premiership, it is believed that the governor-general will call upon C. H. Barker to form a Liberal Government. He was minister of justice during the last administration. A large attendance is looked for next Monday evening, as some interesting events are likely to take place.

A Fruitless Search.

Sanitary officer Bailey and two assistants, backed by Sergt. Levin and three police officers, made a raid on Chinatown last night. The object of the hunt was the finding of two Chinamen supposed to be in a diseased condition. Nooks, holes and corners were peeped into, and the lanterns turned on a great many slant eyes, which opened in innocent (?) surprize, but the Mongolians that they longed for failed to show up. Several times a vanishing act was performed that would have made Hermann green with envy, but every one rounded up showed a clean bill of health in his stolid face. Some holes were entered where the inmates were so thick that they took turns in holding their breath while the others breathed, as if there was not air enough to go round at one time. Mr. Bailey expressed his determination to look into the matter and thin them out a little. Some time after midnight Drs. Milne and Watt joined the hunt, but when the party finally gave the matter up, a clinging smell was all they had to show for their night's work.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 24.—An appalling accident happened on the construction line of the Great Northern Railway this morning, resulting in the death of seven men and the fatal injury to five more and serious injury to six others. The track-laying crew employed by Shepard, Sims & Co. had finished the track to Wenatachee river, and this morning had started to lay rails across the stream. The east approach and first span were crossed safely, but when the middle and second span was reached the false work under the bridge collapsed and the track machine, together with two carloads of ties and timber cars loaded with rails, fell to the river, 60 feet below. The men were thrown in every direction, and some of them were buried under the ties and rails. The water was about three feet deep and ran through a solid rock channel. Conductor John Leonard, of St. Paul, was standing on the end of the train, and his body was afterwards found with a heavy rail lying across the head and another across his feet, holding him under water.

FROM PORT TOWNSEND.

Susie Island Squatters Obstruct by Force of Arms a Corps of Surveyors.

PORT TOWNSEND, Oct. 24.—(Special)—Two ranchers, named McLaughlin and Wiggons, who had squatted on Government land at Susie Island, were arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshall Mudgett, and taken to Seattle to-day on the revenue cutter Wolcott. The ranchers, by the use of shotguns, drove off a company of Government engineers who were making a survey through their lands. The ranchers took this violent measure to prevent the infringement of what they regarded as their right.

MAN DROWNED.

Jack Buckett, Night Watchman, Falls off the Gangway of the "Yosemite."

Early this morning, as Jack Buckett, well known as the night watchman of the steamer Islander, was walking along the gang plank leading to the steamer Yosemite, he overbalanced himself and fell into the water, every effort made to rescue him proving unavailing. After a short time the body was recovered, but life was extinct. He was a native of Brightlandsly, Essex, England, had been on this coast for fourteen or fifteen years, some ten of which he had spent in the employ of the C.P.N. Co. He was a favorite with his fellow-employes, and was generally well spoken of.
